

Ingrid Campagne has practiced litigation in California since 1992, where her focus is on environmental litigation with an emphasis on product liability, toxic tort and premises liability. Ingrid enjoys trying cases and has achieved an impressive trial record. She has represented many types of companies including manufacturers, premises owners, contractors and distributors. Ingrid serves as lead counsel for numerous companies, including work as national coordinating counsel for some.

Ingrid believes that client relationships are of paramount importance and she enjoys meeting clients and being the person that shepherds them through the lawsuit process. Ingrid understands that whether sued in one case or in a hundred cases, litigation is stressful, and she wants her clients to know that she is there to help. "No one enjoys being sued," she says. "I see my job as making the process as efficient, pain-free and expeditious as possible, while delivering solid results."

REPRESENTATIVE SUCCESSES

- Harkin v. Refinery Labor Company – Successfully secured a defense verdict for a refinery labor company in a personal injury mesothelioma case alleging exposure to asbestos during work at a San Francisco Bay area refinery. Following four weeks of trial, the jury found that no asbestos exposure was attributable to the defendant company.
- Rowberg v. Plumbing Supply Company – Secured a defense verdict for a plumbing supply company and its alleged predecessor entity in a wrongful death case following 17 days of trial. The plaintiff alleged the company supplied asbestos cement pipe to the plaintiff's worksites, thereby exposing his wife to asbestos dust via his clothing. The wife subsequently contracted mesothelioma and passed away. Plaintiffs' attorneys had asked the jury for $18 million.
- DePree v. Wholesale Distributor – Secured a non-suit during trial for a wholesale distributor of talc that was used in the manufacture of other products in a case involving a maintenance man who developed mesothelioma.
- Ash v. Various Defendants – Successfully won a jury defense verdict for a manufacturing client in an asbestosis action after a four week jury trial. The plaintiff's verdicts were returned against another defendant represented by different law firm in similar cases tried before the same jury.
- Childress v. Various Defendants – Dismissal with prejudice on behalf of a general contractor defendant on the day of closing argument in a case involving fatal asbestos-related lung cancer.
- Enroth v. Various Defendants; Livingston v. Various Defendants; Hoke v. Various Defendants – Nonsuits were awarded to the defendant manufacturer and contractor represented by Walsworth in three alleged asbestosis cases.
- Grider v. Asbestos Defendants – Successfully secured a dismissal of a boiler manufacturer client immediately after the opening statement was given on the client's behalf in a living mesothelioma case.
