REPRESENTATIVE SUCCESSES

- Employee v. Lithia Motors, Inc. – Secured a major defense arbitration award in a complicated employment matter on behalf of a Fortune 500 national auto dealership. The claimant alleged causes of action for wrongful termination, disability discrimination, failure to accommodate disability, family and medical leave (FMLA/CFRA) discrimination and retaliation, and whistleblower retaliation. However, the arbitrator ultimately found the claimant's termination was lawful in all respects and rendered an award in favor of our client on all claims.
- Prevailed on summary adjudication on behalf of large public entity involving claims from employee alleging she was discriminated against due to her disability and that her employer failed to accommodate her due to an inability to find a light duty position for said employee. On summary adjudication the Court dismissed claims for disability discrimination, discrimination based on national origin, and failure to accommodate.
- Obtained a favorable settlement on behalf of a public entity employer in claim that employee alleged to be worth seven figures involving causes of action of disability discrimination and failure to accommodate.
